I want to play college basketball and also want to become an engineer. I've always liked science, but have a passion for basketball. Elevation gave me the opportunity to play and get an education.

The promise of individual attention intrigued me, my boys can work ahead two or three grades in math because they tailor the program to the kids strengths and weaknesses and give them a lot of individual attention so each one can be successful.

College Placement

Elevation Preparatory Academy's counseling program assists students in every facet of college placement. We understand that the research and application process is an overwhelming task for families, and we strive to make the experience as positive and productive as possible. Students and their parents are guided through each step on the path to college selection, from choosing college preparatory classes to making the final commitment to a university. Individual conferences and small group workshops are held throughout the year to further assist students in essay writing, SAT preparation and any topics related. Students are encouraged to visit the institutions in which they are interested.

My son has been at EPA for 3 years now. When he arrived he barely spoke English and was embarrassed because of his accent. Gustavo is now going into his senior year with a 3.7 GPA and a new-found confidence. Thank you EPA!
